From the manager's desk

'Community' is a big part of our identity

There is a reason one of the Seven Cooperative Principles is, "concern for community." There is also a reason Touchstone Energy has listed "commitment to community" as one of their four core values. It's because a large part of a cooperative's identity centers around being an active and involved part of their local communities. That's who we are.

At West Central Electric, we appreciate and treasure opportunities to support community events and participate in local activities. This time of year, you will see us in some of the local parades, tossing out candy and trinkets, and getting to interact with families at community festivals. We also love Halloween, and have been rotating throughout the area towns the past few years to hand out lighted knickknacks to keep trick-or-treaters visible.

If you attended the annual meeting in August, you heard a report on our Operation RoundUp Foundation and the projects we have helped finance. With more than 8,500 members voluntarily rounding up their electric bills to the next nearest dollar each month, we have provided needed funding for 142 area projects to the tune of over $390,700.

In July, we sent checks to colleges and universities totaling more than $24,000 to assist 28 area students in furthering their education.

Letting some of our most critical entities know their services do not go unnoticed was a mission for us this year. So, our employees fanned out across our service area this spring to deliver treat baskets to our active police and sheriffs' departments. It was just some cookies, soda and a few WCE goodies, but it allowed us to send a message to those who devote their lives to keeping our communities safe.

Two remarkable cooperative programs in which we participate are the Rural Electric Youth Tour and CYCLE (Cooperative Youth Conference and Leadership Experience). Through these programs, we are able to send some of our area's brightest young leaders to Washington, D.C. and Jefferson City to learn about cooperatives, state and federal government, the history of our state and country, and to make connections that will be valuable to them for a lifetime. We invest in these programs because they turn out impressive leaders who will someday be the adults making decisions that affect our local communities and cooperatives.

Each day, we make an effort to live up to the Touchstone Energy goal of "improving the quality of life in our communities by donating time, energy and resources to charities, schools and community events."

Whether it is planting trees in a local park on Arbor Day, helping the area veterans home hang and maintain their Tree of Stars banners, or attending as many school, 4-H and FFA events as we can fit on our calendar, we strive to always be present. Thank you for allowing us to be a part of your local communities. We'll see you soon!

*Sincerely,
Michael Newland, CPA
General Manager*

WCE offices will be closed Sept. 7 in observance of Labor Day. Have a safe and happy holiday!

What you need to know

Cooperation Among Cooperatives

WCE linemen assisting Southwest Electric Cooperative with repairs after the surprise July 4 storm included (l-r) Drew Schmidt, Conner Lamphier, Brandon Heck and Aydan Ramsey. The storm, which cut a path of destruction across the center of Missouri, took out power to more than 50,000 cooperative members around the state. WCE fared better than many, with 3,000+ reduced to less than 1,000 in just a few hours, and everyone back on by the morning of July 5. Southwest Electric had more than 10,000 members out at their peak.

CYCLE builds young leaders

“CYCLE was simply the best, from the friends I made to the experiences I had. Your attitude toward the opportunity you have been given, as well as the people you surround yourself with dictate what you get from the experience and how much fun you have. That is not only important at CYCLE, but also in life itself,” CYCLE delegate Remington Sublette said.

For four days in July, Jefferson City was home to some of the best and brightest of Missouri’s youth. The event was the Cooperative Youth Conference and Leadership Experience sponsored by the Association of Missouri Electric Cooperatives, and attended by high school juniors and seniors from across the state chosen to represent their local cooperatives.

West Central Electric Cooperative’s representatives were Warrensburg High School seniors Remington Sublette and Ero Garza, Odessa High School senior Mia Unruh and Lafayette County C-1 High School senior Alex Dyer, who all earned their place during the 2026 Youth Tour and CYCLE competition held this spring.

The goal of CYCLE is to be a leadership development stepping stone for youth. By cooperatives getting involved in helping develop their leadership potential, the hope is for delegates to go back to their communities and continue to learn from local leaders, educators and co-op staff. When they get into positions of leadership later in life, they will then be inclined to remember the cooperatives’ way of thinking.

Delegates participate in leadership activities, cooperative education and hands-on government. They visit the historic Missouri State Penitentiary, embark on a day trip to St. Louis and spend time at the state Capitol Building debating a bill they authored.

Motivational sessions with guest speakers include Dan Meers, (KC Wolf) and the Rachel’s Challenge group, which shows students how they can start a chain reaction of compassion in their own communities.

For more information about the Youth Tour and CYCLE contest, contact Heather Hoflander at 800-491-3803 or heather@wcecoop.com.
